Title:

THE MAP OF THE WORLD DESIGNATED BY RELIGION

Luke Stotts
ANTH 205
FINAL Pt. II

Answer the following questions. Use the data from Parts I and II, for evidence-based explanations of 5-7 sentences.

1. From the culture sketches that you read, what patterns did you notice? Did anything surprise you about the similarities or differences between the cultures? How did, for example, social organization vary with group size or mobility with marriage patterns? (2.5 pts)

Some patterns that I noticed include that the majority of the smaller cultures were Ranked Societies. This could be because there were no overarching powers, and it was just easier to have one man or woman in charge. I also noticed that North America, and specifically, the United States had the most Animistic religions compared to all of the other continents. The thing that surprised me the most was that some of the larger cultures were actually extremely mobile like that of the Turkana's from Kenya. Other than that, there was no relation to the subsistence type and the cultures location, except for extreme circumstances like the Turkana's.

2. Choose three of the variables explored (population size, subsistence, mobility, marriage, kinship, social organization, religion) and break down what percentage of the cultures in our sample followed the different forms. What kind of patterns do you note? (2.5 pts)

Only 27.3% of the cultures we studied practiced the Egalitarian society. This shows how common it is for older cultures to utilize a ranked society. For religion, 21.21 percent practiced Polytheism, 42.42% practiced Animism, and 36.36% practiced Monotheism. This is representative of the belief among many tribal cultures that nature is a strong force in which animals are gods holy creation. As for the mobility, 6.1% were seasonally mobile, 9.1% were mobile, and 84.8% were sedentary. The majority of the cultures we studied were very large which provides an explanation as to why 85% of the cultures were sedentary.

3. Extra Credit (.5 pt): What surprised you in doing this assignment? Did you learn about a new culture?

The thing that surprised me the most is how different the cultures were, even when they were right next to each other in location. I learned a lot about the Kazakhs because no one did a culture sketch on them, and their culture was very intriguing.

4. Extra Credit (.5 pt): What was your favorite "fun fact" that you learned from the "Culture in Depth" sections?

I found it most interesting that even with the Mayan culture, if you are polite and well spoken, then you are treated with respect and your social status is thus enhanced.
